most the entire student body will be here to-morrow morning for Richmond to witness the championship game between Randolph-Macon and William and Mary College. The game, which might be held in the college chapel, and the cheer leaders inspired everybody with enthusiasm.

The Yellow Jackets had a final practice this afternoon, which consisted of light signal practice and trials at receiving kick-offs. Only one showdown was made, when Mrs. Allen Potts, Virginia, who was cheered for her herald riding earlier in the day, rowly escaped injury as her mount leaped the south fence on the second time around. The animal got badly and practically landed on the rail, which broke under his weight.
Potts retained her seat, but was led forward in the saddle.
That was considered by some to be a banner event of the day took place in the afternoon, in the judging of best collection of three horses, not over fifteen hands, in single harness.

Harriman; Avondale, driven by Jack

HIGH SCHOOL WINS PREP. SCHOOL TROPHY

Contest at Broad Street Park Yesterday Taken Through Pure Merit—Academy Team, Bewildered, Puts Up a Game Fight—Inspiring Scenes.

BY CARELL F. FITZGERALD.
Richmond High School wins the trophy!

It is such demonstrations as were witnessed in Broad Street Park yesterday as bespeak the success of the Intercollegiate Athletic League of Richmond, and which show unmistakably that the physical development of the youngsters attending the Richmond High School, Richmond Academy and McGuire's School is to be greatly benefited in the movement for clean athletics and healthy rivalry between the institutions.

Yesterday's football game, in which twenty-two youths battled for the championship of the Intercollegiate League, was as hard fought as any game ever seen here, and cheering hundreds eagerly awaited the final result of the struggle. Richmond High School won from Richmond Academy by 12 to 5, and with it the league trophy, a silver loving cup—becomes the property of the schoolboys.

A Stirring Scene.
It was a stirring scene. Grandstand and bleachers were thronged with girls and boys. Periodically throughout the game the crisp atmosphere rang with grish shrieks and the lusty howls of boys. Each rooting squad was headed by a drum corps. Many horns and bells added to the confusion, while pennants galore waved and waved as inspiration to the youthful warriors, fighting as for life and death in the arena.

It was Rahl! Rahl! Rahl!—High School; Rahl! Rahl! Rahl!—Academy, as each side merited a demonstration. Time and again some single player, by stellar work, would have his name added to the rolls, and ever and anon the cheering of the one side would be answered by an equally voluminous outburst from the other.

The game itself—it was a corker.
Well-trained youths pulled every muscle of their bodies into play. Boys of sixteen tackled with a precision that might have done justice to the most grizzled star of the game.
The backs fought fearlessly into their opponents, and, in fact, the style of play did justice to any college team, big or little.

Players Stretched Out.
Several times during the game players were stretched out from injuries, but each plucky youngster was quickly on his feet and at 'em again, just as though nothing had happened. The High School eleven in a dazzling play clearly showed its superiority, but the Academy fought hard, and now and then the ball seamed from one side to another.

End runs, line dashes and forward passes are responsible for the High School victory. The Academy, on the other hand, was not so lucky. The best of it in punting, and but for their work in this particular the score might have been larger against it.
There is little doubt that the future football stars of Virginia will be numbered among the boys who yesterday fought so grandly at the ball park.

The game started at 4 o'clock. The Academy won the toss, and chose to receive the ball. They defended the west goal. Two plays failed to gain, and the ball was kicked to midfield.
High School, kicked. The ball was blocked. Briggs, the Academy's left half back, got it, and eluding several trackers, raced twenty yards for his first touchdown. No goal. Academy, 5, High School, 0.

Supporters Gloomy.
There was gloom in the ranks of the High School supporters and equally as apparent joy from Academy rooters. These 200 girls in the centre of a grandstand, who had gone out to spur on the High School team were not destined to remain long in sadness.
It was five minutes later that the Blue and White colored flutters furiously.
The drum corps got busy. Full Back Shelton had dashed magnificently through the Academy eleven. The goal was kicked. High School, 6; Academy, 5.

Such joy. Such sadness. Nobody expected the High School to overcome the lead. But they went after the game with a dash that swept the bewildered opponents off their feet. The result was never in doubt after the first High School touchdown. The Academy team played well and fought furiously, but High School was better versed in the intricacies of the game, and won out on merit.

The second half opened with High School playing vigorously. It was eight minutes after play resumed that Captain Word crossed the Orange and Blue goal line for the final score of the game. The pigskin was forced by various plays almost the entire length of the field. Academy braced near the close, and the contest during the latter part of the last half was evenly played. A final demonstration was given at the close, and the High School rosters, headed by the drum corps, marched triumphantly down town.

The game served to show that there are several amateurs in Richmond who know and understand the game. Captain Word, of High School, played wonderfully, and with Van Pelt, left end, on the same team, carried off the honor. Shelton's work was also commendable, and in fact the whole eleven did all that could be expected of it.
Captain Nott, of the Academy, showed that he is to be heard of in future football circles, and with McPhail did the best work of his team.

The two teams:
High School. Position. Academy.
Van Pelt, left end. McPhail, Shelton, left tackle. Bomls Mullins, left guard. Vaughan Mullins, centre. Nott (Captain).

Gary, right guard. Gary mond College. Field Judge—Chambers.

W. AND M. TEAM
IN GOOD TRIM

Great Enthusiasm Prevails Among Members of the Football Squad.

[Special to The Times-Dispatch.] WILLIAMSBURG, VA., November 13.
—Yesterday afternoon the William and Mary squad went through a stiff practice game. Several of the men were knocked out, but no serious damage was done, and the team is in good condition for the game with Randolph-Macon at Broad Street Park to-morrow.

Great enthusiasm prevails among the members of the football squad and among the students generally. For the last three nights the loyal sons of Old William and Mary have been practicing yells and songs in the college chapel, so as to give a good account of themselves on the side lines.

The team has been taking it easy to-day, with a little signal practice for to-morrow's game. The squad will arrive in Richmond in charge of Manager Newton on the 12 o'clock train tomorrow, and will immediately proceed to the Park Hotel, where they will rest until time for the game.

William and Mary's line-up for tomorrow's game will be: Warner, left end; Taylor, left tackle; Kofer, left guard; Lee, centre; Neblett, right guard; Porter, right tackle; Schloss-berg, right end; Hall, quarter back; Driver, left half back; Cohen, right half back; Allison, full back.
